Food for Thought – “Talk with the Animals” by Revd Mark

Dr Doolittle, the man at the centre of the story, has the ability to communicate with the animals. In 2023, you may have seen that people are working on animal communications. There have been a number of viral stories and serious news pieces about understanding your cat’s meow, what your dog is saying etc. One of the really interesting areas is about whales. We know whales communicate across long distances, and that pods of whales of the same species have different accents when communicating. People are starting to use AI (artificial intelligence) to try and see if they can translate these clicks and whistles and rumbles into a meaningful dialogue. If so, it will be a bit of a game-changer. What were considered nothing but “dumb” animals may show that they can have a grammar and a language, which makes them more like us that we were prepared to admit.

In the Bible, especially in the Old Testament, there are many references to the Leviathan – a creature that lives in the depths of the ocean, that plays for the fun of it’s own creation. It is also, in the eyes of the writer of the Psalms, not only an indication of the creative power of God who made it but also a bit of a threat, an agent of chaos in an otherwise ordered world—though, of course the Israelite people were never ones to sail the sea. They preferred dry land!

If we do determine that whales, and possibly dolphins and porpoises, are sentient, then that will change our relationship with them. They are not only to be protected, but cherished, they have an intrinsic value that is greater than we thought – just look at the way we have changed from hunting them for their oil to trying to protect them. They are part of God’s rich creation and, as such, deserve to flourish – requiring us to look after their environment more than we currently do.

History and Sale of The Poor's Acre

The Parliamentary Returns dated 1786 state that an unknown donor gave, by word of mouth only, a parcel of land which was vested in the Overseers of the Parish of Much Birch, who subsequently let the land. The one acre of land was known as the Poor's Acre and is situated on the North side of Hollybush Lane, Much Birch.

The administration of the Poor's Acre passed from the overseers to the Much Birch Parish Council when it was established in about 1895. When the Charity Commission was formed about 1963, the Poor's Acre became part of three linked charities, the Joseph Cooke Charity, the Poor's Acre Charity and the Margaret Drew's Charity, known by the working name of the Much Birch Old Charity.

Rent records show that the Poor's Acre has been let to the occupiers of Bigglestone Farm from 1964 and probably a great deal longer.

The Charity Commission states that the Much Birch Old Charities objectives are for the Relief of Poverty, helping Children/Young People, Elderly/Old people, Other Charities and Voluntary Bodies by making grants to individuals and organisations.

In 2015 the present Trustees consulted with Herefordshire Council Planning Officer for the area and were told that under the revised planning rules, permission could probably be obtained for one house along the roadside of the Poor's Acre. A solicitor and land agent were appointed and outline planning permission for a dwelling was granted.

After protracted negotiations with the tenant and assorted buyers, the building plot was finally sold on 26th April 2023. The net sale proceeds after paying the high solicitors' fees, land agent's commission and compensation of loss of agricultural tenancy was £122,757.

This money is being invested in accordance with the Charity Commission requirements and also made available for charitable purposes as detailed above. As the land was given for the benefit of the residents of Much Birch, the trustees consider that donations should continue to be for the benefit of people living in the parish of Much Birch, including Kingsthorpe.

Little Birch Wildlife Walk 4th June

Just under 30 people gathered at Little Birch Village Hall on a lovely sunny afternoon to go on a guided walk, led by Andrew Nixon who has had a long career working in Conservation. We first walked down Chapel Pitch, where we stopped several times for Andrew to point out lots of different wild flowers. He explained how to recognise variations in the same species, who knew there were so many different species of buttercups? I didn't.

He also explained to us that with global warming biodiversity is changing very rapidly for every 2° average change in temperature plants need to be 400 miles further north. This is completely changing the plant species we see.

We walked down through Athelstan Wood and Andrew pointed out sweet chestnut trees that have been damaged by squirrels and newly planted trees have been coated with something to stop them being palatable for deer, which means the plastic tree protectors are not required.

This was a fascinating walk, and we are very grateful to Andrew for sharing his knowledge with us, and Angela Middleton for organising the walk.

We are hoping to organise another Themed Parish Walk in the autumn the date will be posted as soon as it has been arranged.

SOUTH HEREFORD REPAIR CAFÉ AT DINEDOR VILLAGE HALL

They Didn't Bin It! We Repaired It!

We had a very successful "soft opening" on 15th April and now will open on the third Saturday of each month (except in August and December) from 10:00am to 12:30pm. Repairs on the 15th included a Dyson vacuum cleaner, a standard lamp, and a ceramic ornament, while a family-valued video cassette jammed in a player was extracted. Jeans zips were replaced, the sleeves of a fleece jacket shortened, and the button on a trouser waistband eased. Several pairs of secateurs, shears, and loppers were sharpened as well as kitchen knives and an axe.

We throw away vast amounts of stuff! Even things with almost nothing wrong which might get a new lease of life with a simple repair. That is why we are here to help, and why we shall be very pleased to see you in Dinedor on 20th May or at a later session.

To hopefully ensure a smooth flow of repairs we request that all items for repair are booked in with us in advance with items for Saturday 20th May BOOKED BY THURSDAY 18TH MAY AT www.repaircafesouthhereford.org.uk

While you are waiting for your repair you can also enjoy tea, coffee and cake in our café!

Dinedor Village Hall is easy to find. Leaving Rotherwas on the B4399 for Holme Lacy after 1 mile turn right and then you will find us after 400 metres on the left. Post code: HR2 6LQ. What3words: ///overcomes.remakes.newspaper.

We are STILL RECRUITING VOLUNTEERS for our Repair Café: so if you are handy and able to repair things, or would like to help with refreshments or front-of-house: please do on a Saturday speak to our reception desk or e-mail us at repaircafe@dinedorvillagehall.org.uk

Youth at the Summit

I got up the mountain edge, and from the top saw the world stretcht out—
cornlands and forest,
river winding among meadow-flats,
and right off, like a hem of the sky, the moving sea,
with snatches of foam,
and large ships reaching forward, out-bound.

And then I thought no more,
but my heart leapt to meet the wind,
and I ran, and I ran.

I felt my legs under me,
I felt the wind buffet me,

hit me on the cheek;
the sun shone,

the bees swept past me singing;
and I too sang, shouted,

World, world, I am coming

Jobs for the Garden in July and August

Derek Scrivens

No House Martins again this year, sightings of 2 Swifts and 2 Swallows have been our lot so far this year. What a fantastic performance from what seems to be 3 Cuckoos in the area. Last September I included a photograph of some grass snakes' eggs which I had uncovered when moving some compost. At the time we had not seen a grass snake during the 20+ years that we have lived here. However, at long last, we have had a prolonged sighting. It had got inside the net over an area of brassicas (so covered to keep pigeons off) and could not find a way out. We released it and managed to get a few seconds of video as it disappeared into the hedge. At one point I had it hanging over a stick, but unfortunately it slipped off while we were focusing the iPad camera, and that's when it made its way into the hedge. It was difficult to estimate the length but I would think between 75 and 90 cms. If it has adopted us, it might explain why our tadpoles seem to disappear overnight and the absence of frogs. I wish it would catch the mice that are nicking our strawberries!!

- *Plant Autumn flowering bulbs – Colchicum, Sternbergia, Nerine.
- *Clean foliage and remove any dead leaves from house plants.
- *Regularly dead head flowers to promote new flowers.
- *Camellias and rhododendrons should be well watered with rain water, particularly those in tubs, to produce next year's flower buds.
- *Feed tubs and hanging baskets with a high potash feed (tomato feed) every couple of weeks.
- *Pick sweet peas regularly, ensuring no pods are allowed to grow. Feed with tomato feed weekly and keep soil at the base

Gardening Club News

Our May meeting was 'The History of Birmingham Botanical Gardens'. Our speaker Philip Aubury had been director of the Garden after working his way through the ranks following his initial horticultural training. His talk was fascinating as he explained how the Garden had developed.

He had many amusing anecdotes and memories including showing Bill Clinton around the garden after he had sneaked out of a major world conference. He then took us on a virtual tour of the garden leaving all of us wanting to see more. It is many years since the gardening club took a trip to the garden in Birmingham but I suspect quite a few of us have been inspired to visit again.

On June 10th we held a coffee morning and plant sale. The home-made cakes were delicious and we were able to sell a wide range of plants to suit the tastes of all, everything from house plants, orchids, vegetable plants, bedding plants, roses, perennials and a whole lot more. Hopefully the sale will become an annual event.

*Harvest courgettes and beans regularly and also make the most of all young vegetables; lift onions and garlic when foliage starts to turn yellow.

*Feed tomatoes, peppers and melons with high potash fertilizer and cucumbers with nitrogen feed.

*Cover brassicas with a fine mesh to protect them from caterpillars.

*Take semi-ripe cuttings from herbs such as rosemary, sage and thyme.

*Cut canes of summer fruiting raspberries to the ground. Select 6 to 8 strong, new green canes at each root and tie them to the wire supports 10cm apart, then cut out all the others.

Apples, pears and plums may well have dropped some fruit in June. If the crop is still heavy, thin by hand to improve the crop.

*Make new strawberry beds.

*Ensure frogs, toads, newts and other animals are able to exit ponds.

*Allow some seed heads and berries to develop for wild-life.

*Do not destroy wasp nests unless their location is dangerous to you.

*Sow biennial plant seed now – foxgloves, teasels, wallflowers – these will flower early next year and will help feed pollinators.

*Don't water lawns in hot dry periods.

*If there is evidence of hedgehogs visiting your garden leave out a little meat (not fish) based pet food for them

*Sit back and enjoy your garden when weather permits. BBQ plus veg. from your garden is great.

Eric and Doe's Irish Tour

29th March 2022 Left home at 10.10hrs, arrived at our first camp, the Kendal Club Site at 1500hrs. As with all club sites, this has all the facilities. We are situated in a deciduous wood that was an ammunition factory back in the day. The quite big Kent river is almost surrounding us. As we arrived the first thing I noticed was the bird song.

Set up, a cup of tea and then set off to explore. There is a single span pedestrian bridge over the Kent. We headed south for a few hundred yards, spotted a big house just over the way and went to investigate. We were surprised to see a little village just ahead with the entry to the big house which we learned was now flats.

We met an old wrinkle like ourselves and had a great history lesson from him. There was a bridge that we thought was a railway bridge, a steep climb up proved that it was an old dry Canal. The old boy said it had been dry since the 1940s, because all the males were away at the war and there was no manpower for the maintenance so it was left to go. The big house used to belong to a Quaker family years ago, and was part of the high gentry of the area. Quite a lovely stop over, lots to do, plenty of walks, great swimming pools. Walked 7568 steps, drove 204 mls.

Wednesday 30th 1727hrs All us campers know where not to camp, so why did we camp under the trees? It rained, we had little spots and big drips through the night, but, ironically, we both slept well last night.

We commenced our drive to Cairnryan at 0940, up the M6, most of the heavy traffic had filtered off yesterday so the traffic was very light. This morning it's more overcast and quite a bit colder, as we climbed over Shap Fell we could see lots of fresh snow all around. We had flurries of snow off and on all the way to our camp site at Castle Kennedy where we arrived at 1420 hrs. But on the whole we had good weather. We did have to divert into Penrith, mainly to get two new wiper blades and top up with fuel.

Had a lovely drive after leaving the M6 and on to the A75. So much variety of scenery along this route fantastic grassland, lots of rubbish wetland, we drove along very close to the coast. But in all that drive, even though it's a dairy area we hardly saw a cow. Our site was about a mile off the road and seven miles from Cairnryan.

As soon as we arrived, off came the bikes and we headed back to Castle Kennedy only to find they were closed until Friday. Ah well, we had a bit of exercise. Back at our site, we paid £20 for our night's camping. The site has a massive lake on three sides with trout fishing. Doe and I go out again for a walk around the lake but the path was so poor we walked up the road. Lots of horses on the sides. A herd of 20+ inquisitive young steers which came right up to the fence. I can understand why folk are afraid when confronted in a field. These kept pace with us along the road, almost coming to lick our hands. Another lovely meal by the navigator. We shall now settle down for the night, must be up at six to catch the ferry.

Thursday 31st It's now 08.30, just sailing out of Cairnryan on Stena. A bit of a delay because of the extra traffic (P&O ferries impounded). Just a two hour crossing to cover fifty miles. A frost last night, this morning, clear blue skies but very cold and windy. I also found a camp site for tonight, a CL 2195 @Ford Farm Islandmagee, why did I select this? Only because it was on our way. While searching the internet on Doe's phone I learned that last night, tomorrow night and Friday night are excellent for viewing the northern lights, because there has been so much solar activity, so from 1010 till 1035 I was outside on an amazing starry night waiting for it to happen. I would not have minded that we saw no northern lights but I had gone around and told the other two vans of the great expectation!

We had an easy trip out of Belfast, good roads and then onto the brown roads, smaller country roads. We saw just one car. Then I realised that Island Magee was almost an island, crossed the causeway, drove passed our site so drove around the island, some nice beaches at the top end. Checked in, a really nice man in charge, a real character. Cycled down to the causeway, also a bird sanctuary, but the tide was out and not much activity, very cold. All day the sun has shone but cold. We had a cockerel, (Guilleane) hens and bantams around our door. A big day tomorrow as we have booked to walk the Gobbins.

Friday April 1st Here we are, still at Ford farm with Mr Hall, a nicer man and character we have never met on any pitch. A lie in for a change. 9.45 we gather to start our trip to walk the Gobbins. Once again the weather is great but still colder with a keen wind. We were about 16 on the trip—a mini bus ferries us up to the start and then we have a 1in4 walk down to the sea, short but sharp.

The walk is basically along the edge of the sea on a man made walk, sometimes very close over the water, on a gantry, steep steps cut into the rock, over bridges, sometimes very hairy. For me the worst was the steps, all of varying height etc. We were out for three hours, walked 3.5 miles or 1200 steps. Sometimes, if the sea is rough, one can get wet from the waves. Today was good.

Needless to say we spent the rest of the day indoors with infrequent showers, also had the heater on.

Mr Hall called around this evening to give us some really good info about where to go and where to stay along with many a yarn about the life he has led. He is 83 and three generations of his family claimed Snowdon last year.

We move on up the coast tomorrow.
